About OSH-Med International

OSH-Med International is entering a new era as we expand our solutions as well as our footprint throughout Namibia and beyond. OSH-Med International first started training in 2012 as ATA International Namibia, supplying broad-based training solutions to oil and gas ministries, corporations and the public in Namibia.

We believe in exemplary service and dedication to the highest training standards and that attention to detail is instrumental in providing training solutions to the industry, whether it is at the client's premises or hosting delegates in Namibia providing full logistical support for the duration of their stay allowing delegates to focus entirely on their academic commitments.

How are we expanding? Despite the need to diversify to meet the growing needs of our clients, for us it's a natural progression from training, which is an integral aspect of the Management & Client Solution. We understand the critical "golden hour" and the need for qualified personnel in key positions with the right systems and equipment in place to save lives.

Service & Training Solutions

Our mission is to facilitate service and training that is relevant to the organisation being able to customise programs tailored to our clients' requirements. Our quality improvement measures, our total commitment to customer service and our unwavering determination to match and exceed industry benchmarks allows us to excel in providing the best possible products to our customers.

is embedded in our culture and is the very cornerstone of our aim to create significance in the lives of the professionals we train. These professionals leave feeling accomplished and well equipped to ensure that their new found knowledge and skills positively impacts those that they come into contact with.

We provide a one stop shop solution where all associated logistics are taken care of allowing the candidate to focus entirely on their training commitments.

Sought after accreditations and partnerships with many leading experts in the various fields is what contributes to the success of our training programs.
